Redhorse Corporation Co., Ltd.

From 980 yen/month!
REDEE, a digital education facility in Osaka, launches a membership to learn programming with games.

Red Horse Corporation (Head office: Koto-ku, Tokyo; President: Takaharu Miyamoto; hereinafter referred to as "the Company") will start offering memberships to learn programming and other digital technologies at one of Japan's largest digital education facilities, REDEE (Location: Suita City, Osaka; pronounced "redee"), on July 1, 2021. The plan includes both classroom-based "lectures" in which the instructor explains the subject matter, and "self-learning" educational content that allows users to learn on their own by reading textbooks.

The first month is offered at 980 yen. (2,980 yen for the second month onward)

In addition to programming, there are contents such as game production and e-sports, allowing students to learn digital technology through "what they like."

< Curriculum Example >

- Learn to program using Minecraft
- Learn to create games using Unity
- Learning robot programming with Lego
- Learn to type
- Learn the skills to become a professional gamer

< Get the badge >

When you complete the curriculum, you will accumulate "redeem points (RP)", and when you reach a certain level of RP, you will receive a special badge (title). The badge system makes learning as fun as playing a game.

< free trial >

Free trial sessions are held every week at REDEE to learn some of the content of Minecraft programming.

【What is REDEE?】

REDEE, one of Japan's largest digital education facilities, opened on March 1, 2020 as a facility for acquiring a wide range of knowledge and skills, including digital technology, through experiencing games. It is a facility where anyone can easily enjoy and learn from the experience of being a participant in an e-sports tournament in the professional gamer experience area of the 258-seat theater, the experience of being a game player, the experience of VR and drones, and programming classes. It is also a very popular destination for school field trips and school excursions, and many groups have visited Corona Damages.
